BOOKS

Highlander Books is pleased to announce the upcoming release of:

Nagas as a Society Against Voting and Other Essays
by Jelle J.P. Wouters

This collection of essays on Naga history, society and politics is scheduled for release in Winter 2019

This collection of 11 essays... is like an 11-course dinner that one rarely, if at all, gets to partake of. Each of the eleven courses tells us something unique about the Naga society and polity and the author's unique style of presenting ethnographic insights provides the right kind of ambience and mood for partaking such a lavish dinner.

Tanka B. Subba, North-Eastern Hill University

The author's investigation is thoroughly scholarly, and his dedication to understanding the Naga question, the earliest political struggle to take shape in the region, is praiseworthy

Niketu Iralu, Naga elder and peace activist

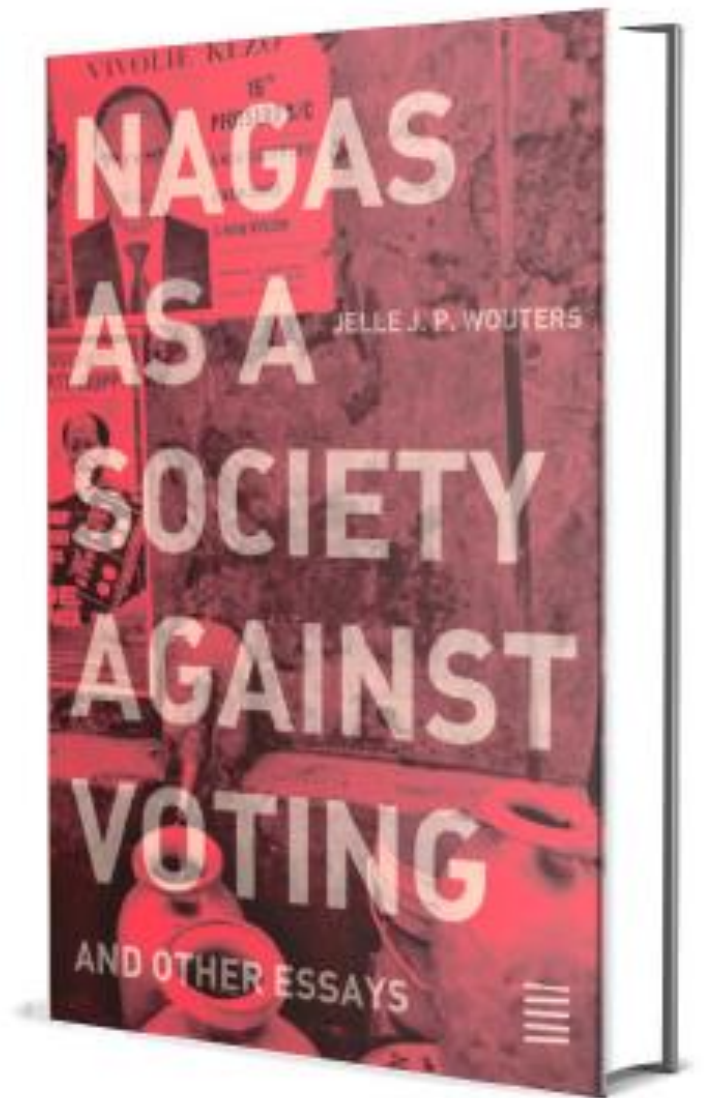

This collection of finely crafted essays challenges major assumptions about Naga society. It helps us move beyond 'tribal essentialism' as we learn about the gendered nature of customary law, rival visions of the future, and how territorial claims are reworked

Willem Van Schendel, University of Amsterdam

Jelle J.P. Wouters is an anthropologist and teaches at the Department of Social Sciences at Royal Thimphu College, Bhutan

Highlander Books is an independent international academic publisher in the humanities and social sciences, and is dedicated to the highest academic standards through the scholarly appraisal of its editorial team and worldwide community of reviewers.

A scenic view of a town at dusk or dawn. The sky is filled with dramatic, layered clouds, with a bright orange and yellow glow from the setting or rising sun breaking through in the center. The town below is silhouetted against the darkening sky, with scattered lights from buildings and streets. In the foreground, the dark silhouettes of trees and foliage are visible, some with a bright light reflecting off a leaf. A tall communication tower with a red light is visible on the left side of the town.
